

Comma presents advanced technical evening for workshops

- Comma Oil's technical team to present on advanced lubricants at IMI event
- Aimed at technicians and managers involved in vehicle service and maintenance
- Hosted on the 20th February by the Institute of The Motor Industry (IMI), Norfolk

A technical team from Comma Oil will present an advanced technical evening to workshops, on the topic of lubricants in an ever changing market. The evening is aimed at technicians and managers looking to broaden their knowledge on engine oil specifications, evolving engine technology and market drivers.

Over the past 25 years, engine emissions have reduced by 49% and this has had an impact on engine oil specifications. Consequently, OEMs are upgrading oil specification requirements to keep up with the changes and lubricant manufacturers, like Comma Oil, are introducing new product ranges to meet the evolving requirements.

Comma representatives will discuss the latest product ranges that meet the certifications and provide any necessary and relevant support to workshops.

The event will be held on the 20th February in Norfolk, hosted by the Institute of The Motor Industry. Further event information can be found at the IMI website.
